What's your story?

Jody A. Cameron
State Master/President
president@ctstategrange.org

I had to recently read a sales book for work New Sales. Simplified, by Mike Weinberg, one of the best books that I have read in a long time and many of the details the author outlines in the book are valuable to us as we grow our membership.

First, know your story! Your story is who you are and why you exist. Your message should cover specific details of your recent and current activities, especially your community service. Please refrain from getting into too much detail on what you used to do. Our history is important, but we must continually build toward our future.

Second, Targets, who are you going to ask to join? Maybe a three tiered target list. Your first list is those prospect you are confident will join (your close targets); your close target list should be of those prospects you know have the time and are readily willing to support your effort. This group is usually family, friends and co-workers. Your second list is those prospects that fit your mission. You need to create value for this group to see a benefit to joining.

Third, develop a plan. Your plan needs to be different for each target list and needs to always start with your story. Your plan also needs to address your target needs. Get to know your targets and tailor your story to their needs. Don't focus on youth activities to a prospect over 65 years old for example. Make sure you plan the following, an initial contact with the prospect, a face to face meeting with the prospect and continual follow up.

Execute the plan. The plan execution needs to include a clear timeline. When do we do each of the above and by whom? Your story needs to be developed before you undertake any of the additional steps. At each meeting go around the hall and ask members to give you names to add to the three lists, the longer the lists the best chance of success. Next develop a plan for each list, you should be able to address the close target list quickly and begin to grow quickly.

As I said last month, growth is not an option, it is a necessity. Your State Grange is here to assist every Grange in developing a comprehensive Growth Plan, please call on us whenever needed.

are willing to join but need to understand the value of our organization and their contribution (your moderate targets). This group will be hardest to get to join, and would include business owners and associates from other groups or organizations. The third list is those prospects you REALLY want to join due to their talents, profession or contacts (your high targets). This group will be the hardest to get to join and should include local and state officials, teachers and business professionals that Service to the community is the fundamental purpose of the Grange and the Granges in our State and carrying out many projects which benefit their communities.

We received reports from Subordinate Granges who are continuing the Dictionary Project, supporting local food banks and shelters, blood drives, walk-a-thons and help to homeless veterans. New projects reported were giving gardening advice, cleaning grave markers, donating seed potatoes to a local voyage high school, adopting a family at Christmas, donating to a local pet shelter and sending care packages to soldiers overseas in harms' way. We also received an excellent report from Ekonk Community Junior Grange. Many Granges are trying to include other community groups to work with. We suggest contacting your local high school guidance office, as most schools require high school students to complete specific amounts of community service hours prior to graduation.

Our Granges reported a very impressive 78,663 hours of community service for 2012, which is an increase of 4,556 hours over last year. An almost equal number of Grange members/non-Grange members were included in this work. That's a lot of potential new members to recruit.

Sandy Hook Angels Fund

December 14, 2012 will forever be known as one of the most senseless and saddest days in Connecticut history. Our thoughts and prayers go to every victim, faculty member, citizen of Newtown, first responder and law enforcement personnel.

The shootings at Sandy

Hook Elementary School took the lives of 20 children and 6 adults for no currently known reason. As time passes and investigations continue there will be answers. Until then, I ask all Grange members in Connecticut and across our Nation to unite in prayer and send our support to the families and community as they begin the painful process of dealing with the events of Dec. 14 and yet to come. As of the writing of this letter, there has not been any known Grange family affected by these events.

Ekonk Grange 1st in Nation

by Don Bond, Norwich Bulletin

Sterling, Conn. - When it comes to community service, every Grange in America is looking up to the Ekonk Community Grange in Sterling.

Ekonk Grange captured first place in the National Grange's 2012 Community Service competition, placing ahead of the winners from 28 other states across the nation. All told, 589 Granges submitted entries seeking the award, according to Jody Cameron, a member of the executive committee of Ekonk Grange.

"Initially, the entries were judged at the state level, with our entry capturing first place in Connecticut," he said. "Then the 29 state winners were submitted to a national panel, which ranked us as the best."

In recognition of its top ranking, the Ekonk Grange will receive a first place certificate and a $400 cash prize. The money likely will be put toward the Grange's charitable efforts in 2013, Grange President Kate Molodich said.

Cameron said the scoring in the national competition was close, with the Ekonk Grange winning by the slim margin of four points on a scale of 100. Nearby Richmond, R.I., Grange captured second place in the national judging, a rare sweep by southern New England Granges.

Molodich and Grange Secretary Sue Gray credited Rebecca Gervais, the organization's community service chairperson, with cataloging and preparing Ekonk Grange's entry, which detailed an estimated total of 22,716 hours of volunteer service provided by the 140 people who are active members.

These activities included support of the American Legion Veterans' housing project in Jewett City. The Grange raised money to help finance construction of 18 housing units for homeless veterans at two suppers. "We were invited honored guests at the dedication and there is a plaque identifying the Grange as a contributor," Gray said.

Molodich said the Grange will continue to raise money for the veterans project.

"They need money to build a parking lot and for the daily operating expenses," vice president Link Cooper said.

Other projects, Gray said, include working closely with Sterling Community School, including providing Christmas gifts for a family the Grange adopts annually and making lap robes and slippers for nursing home residents.

Another of its major projects involves preparing and publishing copes of the Sterling Community Calendar, which lists the access information for all town officials, the meeting dates for all local government boards and commissions and all other organizations in Sterling, as well as a listing of local churches.

Grange member Michael Molodich serves as chairman of the Sterling Family Day Committee, and Kate Molodich and Cooper also volunteer their time on that committee.

Other Grange volunteer endeavors include organizing the Ekonk Grange Fair, an event held each summer at the Grange hall on Route 49; and serving an annual dinner for members and alumni of the Killingly High School Chapter of FFA. Members of both the junior and senior Granges also participate in the town's Memorial Day parade, piling onto one of Molodich Farms' large tractor-drawn hay trailers for the ride through Sterling and Oneco villages.

The Grange will expand its community service efforts in 2013 when it takes over operation of the food booth at the Plainfield Relay for Life. During the 24-hour weekend event, the Grange will serve three meals: lunch and supper on Saturday and breakfast on Sunday.

"The Grange won't make any money. All profits from the meals goes to the American Cancer Society," Molodich said.

The Junior Grangers also recently did their part toward the community service effort when they collected pledges and earned about $500 for walking laps at the Sterling Park track.

Veteran Grangers like Gray and Cameron credit some of the success of the senior Grange to the continual influx of Junior Grange members once they reach the eligibility age of 14. "Their enthusiasm helps keep us older members going," Cameron said. "Many of them have learned leadership skills in Junior Grange and carry that with them as they join the adults."

Cameron said the willingness of the adult Grange members to allow the younger generation to test its leadership skills has helped strengthen the program.

"Our last four presidents have been teenagers," numerous Junior Grange offices, including president. Cameron said proudly, pointing to Molodich, 18, "Having an active junior as a prime example of the Grange has helped provide success of the young adults. new leaders for the adult Grange, and that's a plus for the entire Grange program," Molodich joined the Grange, and she said. of 5, the youngest age for membership. Community Service

This year we again divided the entries into two categories- Granges with membership of 50 and under and this with 51 and above. The winners on the State level for 50 and under were: 1- Prospect #144; 2- Stonington #168; 3- Old Lyme #162. Granges with membership of 51 and over were: 1- Ekonk Community #89; 2- Cheshire #23 and 3- Lyme #147.

Of all the reports we received, the judges chose that of Ekonk Community Grange to be the very best. They were awarded Best of Show and their report was sent to National Grange for competition on the National level. We understand that the judges out in Boise, Idaho deliberated for two and a half days before making a final decision.

We are very pleased to report that Ekonk Community Grange placed first in the country for their community service work! Their projects included relief efforts after Hurricane Irene struck, serving food at the Relay for Life fundraiser, providing remembrance flags for fallen heroes and completing their Home for Veterans project. They also excel at keeping the public informed as they do these things.

Congratulations to Ekonk Community Grange on their award and to all our Granges for their good works.

Check your membership list

A new year! Did you make a resolution for this year? I hope it was one that included sending in reports on time. Have you checked your membership list to see if a member is due a twenty-five or fifty year certificate? This is a good project for a day when you are inside where it is warm and cozy.

Perhaps you might check the list of possible members that have been collected from your members. Is there is an upcoming event that they could be invited to attend? Everyone is looking for something to do in the colder weather and the fellowship at Grange events is always enjoyed.

Placemats with the Grange logo for dinners and refreshments are available through the Central Office. A real bargain at $2.00 for 100.

Feb. 10: Open House at Litchfield Grange, 2:00 P.M. - Featuring the Cherry Brook Chimes

Feb. 11: “Information” at Whigville Grange Hall, 7:30 P.M.

Plans are coming together for Mountain County Pomona’s Open House for the revitalization of Litchfield Grange No. 107. We are pleased to announce that Mary Lou Keefe and her group, “The Cherry Brook Chimes” bell choir will perform during the open house that will also feature a presentation by the State Master and, of course, refreshments. Ultimately, our goal is to gather the names of many new potential members for a new Litchfield Grange. Please join us. We need as many members as possible to participate in any way they can, even if it’s just stopping by the Open House. We do need people to help in other ways with refreshments, publicity and in many other ways. Please contact Pomona Master George Russell to see how you can help.

The following evening, Feb. 11, will be the first meeting of the Pomona following our Holiday break. The program is entitled “Information” and will be held at Whigville Grange Hall beginning at 7:30 P.M. Please join us!

Whigville Grange has held another successful “Christmas in Whigville.” We had disappearing heating oil, a collapsed furnace flue, and our usual crisis. But we did what any good Granger does, we persevered! The new cookie walk was a great addition. It definitely satisfied holiday sweet tooths. Join us on Dec. 12 at 6 P.M. for a potluck supper, and we will also write out Christmas cards to soldiers. We can promise lots of fun, too. From all your brothers and sisters at Whigville Grange, a Merry Christmas, filled with blessings and joy!

Jan. 16: Award Night

We held our first Christmas Craft Bazaar fundraiser in early December.

Thanks to the efforts of all our members who worked on our many Monday craft nights, we delivered Christmas remembrances to a local retirement home and to all of our shut-in Grange members. They were very gracious recipients. We finished up distributing the dictionaries to the four elementary schools in Cheshire in the Words for Thirds program. This is a great project, giving us most favorable visibility in town and it is a lot of fun going to the schools and a very rewarding experience.

We hope your holidays were enjoyable. Do come and visit us as we meet each month on the first and third Wednesdays.

The officers and members of Old Lyme Grange wishes everyone a Healthy and Happy New Year!

Our members rallied around to help a single mom with two children have a better holiday. We have partnered with the Lyme Youth Services Bureau on Lyme Street in Old Lyme. It is so rewarding to be able to help someone less fortunate than ourselves at the Holiday Season. We also sent them a $25 donation, money raised through our Country Store on Nov. 9 for their annual appeal.

We donated $25 from our monthly "Penny Jar March" to the Shoreline Soup Kitchen & Pantries. One dollar will give one person three free meals! Barbara continues to work the monthly soup kitchen in Clinton. It is so rewarding when you see the smiles and the continual "Thank You's" you get from the people you serve! If you haven't served at a local Soup Kitchen, why not add it to your "To Do List" for 2013!

Remember that our door is always open, so come on down for a 7:30 P.M. meeting!

Eye on Communications

GLEANINGS FROM YOUR STATE PUBLIC RELATIONS TEAM

A new year ... a new communications strategy

Terri Fassio, Public Relations Co-Director

Effective communication between your Grange, your members and the public is key to obtaining your Grange goals. Each Grange should have a plan of action - a communications strategy - looking ahead and consisting of the following:

- Setting your goals and objectives, such as growing your membership and retaining existing members, offering more events, or taking on a new community service project;
- Operational imperatives, such as making lists of things you must do as well as things that you would like to do, to achieve your goals;
- Environmental conditions, such as the ideas that you feel the public has about your Grange and objectives. This is also known as public perception.

Communications strategies help form the big picture through plans supported by a series of specific activities to meet your Grange's goals. Your Grange's plan of action serves as the framework for the future. When creating your communications strategy, be realistic in your approach. Set goals that are achievable, yet ambitious. Look for ways that your Grange can leverage existing projects and activities to achieve your goals. And be sure to focus on preparation and make each activity and event as effective as possible.

Granges hold the key to their future. 2013 is a new year. Bolster your Grange's success by communicating clearly and effectively.

Even silence says something

Amanda Brozana, National Comm. Director

Like gravity in physics, communication has laws.

An essential one that we all should remember is that "One cannot not communicate." Double negative aside, the statement is poignant. No matter if we choose to create flyers, write articles, hang banners, publish newsletters, build websites, create social media profiles or give speeches or not, we are telling a broader public something about our organization.

If we choose not to in some way spread the message of the Grange, we are sending a message that the Grange is not worth our efforts.

Because of this, it is important that every Grange and every Grange member make communicating positively about our organization and your local Granges a priority as we look to 2013.

As of early 2012, every Grange was provided a free website and email by the National Grange. We have also worked to encourage Granges to take advantage of free social networking sites such as Facebook to create pages (not profiles or groups) that are public and share the images, stories and details about our Granges with the communities in which we are a part.

Taking advantage of these mediums tells the public that the Grange is a place where things happen, people enjoy their interactions and want others to be a part of the fun. Without embracing new technologies, we tell others they are not welcome in our clique.

All Granges should create a communications plan for 2013 as a way to spread your message, our message and as a result, potentially bring in new members.

The Communications Department will offer many outreach sessions this year, in the form of communication weekend workshops in different areas of the country, monthly TeamSpeak meetings and more. We hope you will take the time to provide your ideas, suggestions and comments to the department including how we can best help your Grange. Please send comments and suggestions to abrozana@nationalgrange.org.

At this time of year it seems even more important to remember those in need. Our Grange made Thanksgiving a little happier for eight North Stonington families with baskets that included a turkey and all the trimmings.

At our November meeting we heard the report of our delegates to State Session and were proud to hear we receive Gold Level Honor Grange. Our CWA chairperson and our Lecturer received accolades as well, with “Sue Pianka taking first place in the best program category.

Our program for the evening was presented by a group called HELO Haiti. The letters stand for Help, Education, Love and Opportunity. The group recently visited the country, which is still suffering greatly from the effects of the devastating earthquake.

The pictures of the children and school there were truly inspiring. This group is dedicated to bringing a better life to the people there.

For our first meeting in January the Lecturer asks you to bring an antique and see if you can stump the audience. Our second meeting is a secret. You have to come to find out what’s cookin’.

Several of our members are “under the weather.” We send get well wishes to all.

Grangers then presented Natasja with a collection of gifts for the new addition to her family.

Dick Tarryk, our Chaplain and Community Service person continues to perform outreach in the community.

He will be delivering his 2nd food basket to the soup kitchen. He is also having the Grangers collect box tops, soup labels, and can tops!

Happy Holidays from the Norwich Grange.

Colchester makes the holidays bright

Bourque receives CSG Ag. Award

Colchester Grange Agricultural Committee Chairman Chris Bourque receives a plaque in recognition of being the outstanding Grange in the 2012 Spaghetti Squash growing contest. Colchester was the top Grange with the most squash being donated to local soup kitchens and food pantries. The award is being presented by Connecticut State Grange Pomona Deputy East James Palmer (pictured on right) at a recent meeting of Colchester Grange.

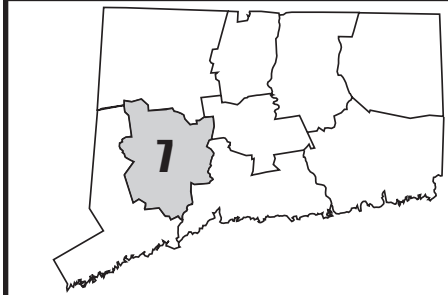

Hamburg Fair honored by IAFE

Hamburg Fair does it again! We are the only fair in Connecticut to bring back awards from the International Association of Fairs and Exhibitions (IAFE) at their recent convention in Las Vegas. This is the third year in a row that the fair has won awards. The fair competes in Division 1 which is fairs up to 100,000 in attendance, there is put to 1,000 or more entries per category. A first in the Green Program, first in the Agricultural Photo Seies, second in non-fair agricultural event or program, third in the Consumer Protection Program, Agricultural Photo , New or Unique Single Class or Competitive Exhibits and Poster. The fair entered 19 categories and placed ten or higher in 17 categories.

President Ted Powell III said the reason for the fair doing so well is the great group of people on the fair board, and the community involvement at the Fair.

On Jan. 16, 2013 Excelsior Pomona is going “Nutty” at Oxford Grange. Lecturer Jean Meehan’s program is “It’s a Nutty World.”

You never know what is going to happen. The General Deputy may be joining us in our Nutty World.

Name that Tune was enjoyed at our last meeting with many getting stumped with some of our ritual songs. Joanne Cipriano’s team won it all. The members of Excelsior Pomona hope all our Grange friends had a great holiday and will see a lot of our friends in Oxford.

Another year has come and gone. Let’s hope the weatherman is as kind as he was last year and we do not have to cancel any meetings.

Our first meeting will be held on Friday - January 11 and we will be having a “New Year’s Party.” Harriet Sawczuk will be in charge of the refreshments.

We welcome as a new member Scott Raymond and as an affiliate member, his mother MaryLou. Both have been busy with our activities since joining.

Jan. 18: Stormy Weather

Happy New Year to everyone.

Our first meeting in the new year is Jan. 4. Hope everyone keeps their new year’s resolutions. On our second meeting on Jan. 18 is stormy weather. We all are wondering what storms we are getting? Dec. 7 we just had our Christmas party with grab bag and country store on Dec. 21 everyone shares their Christmas traditions with us. On Dec. 1 we had our winter/Christmas tag sale. Come visit us as we welcome visitors. We are located at the Masonic Temple, 175 Main St., Watertown.

PROSPECT GRANGE #144
Corr: Jean Meehan

Our project Cold Weather has been doing very well. We were able to donate several winter coats, and many sweaters and clothing to the Vincent DePaul Shelter for homeless people. Several cases of food were donated to the Soup Kitchen as well.

Our other project was collecting food for the local food bank. We collected more than 60 lbs. so far. We have more donations yet to be made.

We held our annual Christmas Party with many of our older members being transported to the party to enjoy a Christmas Potluck dinner. Christmas games were played and enjoyed by all.

January 10 is our next meeting. We will also be making snow figures and our refreshment committee will be Mary Lou Raymond and Bella Berdan.

BRIDGEWATER GRANGE #153
Corr: Dean Perry

We had our regular monthly meeting at the Bridgewater Grange Hall on Wednesday, Oct. 10. We made plans for our Roast Beef Dinner coming up and for Halloween.

We had great success with our fourth Roast Beef Dinner on Saturday, Oct. 13. Our hall was filled to capacity. We had a record amount of customers as well as income. A Hootenanny followed the dinner. Jeff Case and friends are attracting a following. They do quite a variety of music. There were good covers of Bob Dylan, Johnny Cash and the Grateful Dead.

Our hall was opened for Halloween on Wednesday, October 31. Quite a few kids came. Fred, Dorothy and Hazel did a fine job passing out candy.

On November 14 we had a potluck dinner followed by a regular meeting at our Grange Hall. This was the best attended meeting we have had in a while. In addition we had a guest speaker, Steve Case, who is the brother of Jefferey Case, our Lecturer, works with the U.S. Department of Agriculture. He talked about resources available to the public and Grange members for information about agriculture and conservation.

The following wee we made Thanksgiving baskets filled with fruit. Several of our members visited members and friends who are home bound or in nursing homes. We planned one more meeting in our hall for December 5 for a Christmas pizza party, a gift swap followed by a regular meeting. On Friday, December 7 we participated in the Bridgewater Christmas Tree Lighting Ceremony. Our hall was opened for cookies and hot chocolate after the ceremony. The Grange Hall will not be used in the winter months due to the cost of heating it. We will meet on the second Sunday of the month at 2 P.M. in January, February and March of 2013.

Jan. 4: Program to be announced

Jan. 18: Alternate date for January meeting

‘Please note in the calendar that our winter schedule calls for only one meeting each month. Why fight Old Man Winter!

The Thanksgiving feast was a delight with plenty of food for all. The 16 pound turkey and fixins proved more than adequate for the many guests present, and there were plenty of dessert choices to top it off. Thanks go to all who contributed.

Some hall improvements are in the works; one being the addition of storage cabinets in the basement by a Scout Troop One member, the other being the replacement of the ancient stage curtain in the main hall. The latter is a difficult project and is currently being evaluated by member Audrey Wellner.

Wolcott holds bonfire; connects community

Some of the many dog biscuits donated during the Bonfire for the local animal shelters.

The bonfire.

Makendra Moward sings "America the Beautiful" prior to the lighting of the bonfire.

Robert Charbonneau, Public Relations Co-Director

Joe Ouimet, President and the members of Wolcott Grange held a special event for the public. Wolcott Grange recently started a beautification campaign for their Grange property. This resulted in brush and wood from the past forty years being piled up for a bonfire. Members of the Wolcott Fire Department attended with their brush fire truck and assisted Wolcott Grange for this event.

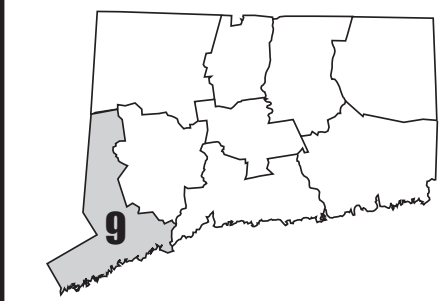

The event started at 6:30 P.M. with Miss Waterbury singing the “Star Spangled Banner”, then a young girl named Makendra Moward who sang “America the Beautiful.” State Representative from 80th District Rob Sampson then spoke briefly on the efforts Wolcott Grange is making in the community and concluded by reciting from memory the National Grange Creed, “In Essentials, Unity; In Non-Essentials, Liberty; In All Things, Charity.”

Joe Ouimet then invited Rob Sampson to help with lighting the bonfire. Once the fire was started, everyone came into the Grange Hall for the Potluck Supper.

Everyone attending the event was asked to bring dog biscuits as a donation resulting in a table overflowing with them. These donations will be distributed to local animal shelters.

In talking with Joe and Hank Ouimet after the event, they were enthusiastic about the plans Wolcott Grange has for the cleared areas between the Grange Hall and a stone fence bordering their property. These plans are still in the works, but may include additional landscaping, and/or growing vegetables. Other plans include their continued gains in membership and working toward membership goals they feel will help the Connecticut State Grange meet its goals for the end of 2013.

HARMONY GRANGE #92
Corr: Susan Carol Sulier
For Harmony Grange, 2012 was a year met with many challenges; the merger of Trumbull and Harmony Granges and the passing of Gilbert Standley. It was also a year met with celebration for our beloved members: Mary Mazur, who turned 100 years young; and Gertrude Wilson and Nancy Dikovsky for their respective 75 and 25 years as faithful Grangers.

A recent ruling from National disallows any member from holding more than one office in their Grange (with some exceptions). Whereas I served as both Secretary and Lecturer, I was forced to give up a minimum of one post. I resigned as Lecturer, even though it brought me more enjoyment and chose to stay on as Secretary as it is far more complex and time consuming and therefore a more difficult office to fill. Our Master George Ward's wife, Gloria was suggested, voted in, and agreed to serve and is now our Lecturer. As of this writing, Gloria's former position of Chaplain has yet to be filled. December was a very busy month at Harmony. Our "Christmas Fair" began with breakfast for the Volunteers, followed by raffles, a Christmas Boutique, a Bake Sale, a Hot Dog & Fixings Luncheon, a Straw Game Table and a Chinese Auction. Special thanks to Marie and Kevin Parker, from Norfield Grange, for helping out. Our Annual "Christmas Party" featured a Pasta Supper, $1 (gender neutral) Grab Bags, a Sing-a-Long (Christmas Carols) and tons of Holiday Spirit and Good Cheer. Many thanks to all HG'ers who contributed their wares, food, time and talents into making these events successful.

National Grange has announced via email, they will no longer print and mail out the New Grange publication, it will henceforth only be available via the internet.

In 2013, let's pray for restored "harmony" within our Community, State and National Granges.

The program consisted of a 17th century Thanksgiving-related questions and answers by our Lecturer.

We will be starting the New Year with planning our activities for Spring. The Lecturer promises a program of interest. We wish all of our Grange friends the very best and extend a welcome to

Mar. 12: St. Patrick's Day Celebration

Twenty-eight of us celebrated Thanksgiving and the reopening of the Farmers' Market at our Open House on Nov. 13. Norfield's chefs cooked up a feast, with turkey and all the trimmings. This month's spotlight falls on Kevin Parker, who roasted a turkey and baked pies, including one of the berets pumpkin pies this correspondent has ever tasted. Congratulations, Kevin!

In the same vein, Marge Sendewicz was presented an award from the CWA for working so hard all year. Marie Parker will take over the job for 2013. We can also boast of the award presented to Norfield for recruiting 22 new members this year! And while we are boasting, our September Fair drew in 400 people. This does not include dogs and other erotica.

Finally, our Grange served as a Water Station to hydrate and cheer on the runners in the Weston Inaugural Kiwanis Reservoir Half-Marathon on Nov. 11. We were Water Station 6. It was a beautiful warm, sunny day, about 60 degrees, and the team was all decked out in marathon crew shirts. They handed out over 50 cups of water and Gatorade (a Race sponsor) to all the runners. We have received and installed our new Automated External Defibrillator (AED)! The AED was purchased with donations from our Fair's Rubber Duck Race and from generous donations by some of our members. Having this available in our Hall, we join other facilities in town with an AED that designate Wilton as a "Heart Safe Community." We urge other Granges that own a Hall to look into acquiring one of these life-saving devices. The life that it saves may be yours!

Our hall has been busy over the past two months as the venue of choice for holiday party rentals, in addition to one of our commercial neighbors that has been using our Hall as on on-campus seminar & retreat venue for business meetings. This type of activity makes for great community outreach, and gets non-members into our Hall to see what we're all about.

Please take note of our meeting and program schedule. Our Lecturer, Doug Shepherd, has some very interesting programs planned and we would enjoy having your join us. A special coming event is our Silent Movie Night on March 16th. Our member, John Mucci will be providing the silent movies and the live piano accompaniment. The movie nights are highly anticipated each year, and we happily fill up the Hall to standing-room only. Tickets at the door.

Visiting Patrons are always welcome - won't you join us?

2013 Deputy Challenge

During the last two years the Deputies have scored Granges based on their ability to present the Flag and to Open and Close the Grange using the traditional Manual. For 2013 we are going in a very different direction. The Deputies Ritual Challenge will now be known as the Deputies Challenge. Rather than have a structured score sheet with specific points that each Grange much achieve, the new Challenge will be based nominations generated by each of the Deputies and inspecting officers.

From the group of Granges inspected by each Deputy, the Deputy will select one Grange to nominate for the Deputies Challenge award based on any criteria they feel distinguishes the nominee from the rest. Their nomination could be based on an outstanding community outreach program, dramatic improvement in Grange procedure, exceptional membership development efforts, community service projects and more.

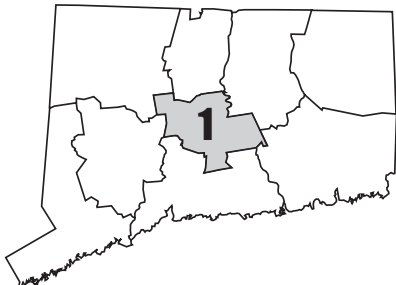

The group of nominees will then be placed on a secure section of the Connecticut State Grange website where the Deputies, inspecting officers and other invited voters will go online to vote for their choice for the 2013 Deputies Challenge award winner.

What do you have to do? The individual Granges do not have to fill out forms, or do anything to enter the 2013 Deputies Challenge. All Granges are in the running for the prize. You do, however, have to stand out enough for the Deputy to take notice and nominate you for the award. Take this opportunity to look at your Grange's programs and activities and set goals that will take your Grange to the next level. By doing so, your Grange could be the next Deputies' Challenge winner!

All Granges nominated will be recognized at State Session and the winner will also receive a website free for one year from the State Grange website development program.

On another subject, THANK YOU to all of the Granges who have already submitted their 2012 Executive Committee reports to me. Nearly all of the reports received at the time of this writing are balanced and complete. We remind all Granges that these reports should be filed with the General Deputy by December 31 or March 31 (depending on when your books close). Some reports have been sent to the Central Office or have been given to one of the Deputies. They are not considered filed until received by the General Deputy. Please make sure you also have a copy to give to the Deputy on the night of inspection.

Do You Remember?

RALPH INGALLS

by Betty Jane Gardiner

We have enjoyed another holiday season and all the treasured memories which go along with it. Each Christmas when I see plots of land filled with fragrant pine trees to be sold, I think of the man from Brooklyn, Connecticut who owned and operated a huge Christmas tree farm. It was a popular business known far and wide as was his business of taking the large stones he found in the fields and turning them into beautiful markers. That was Ralph Ingalls. He was chosen as “Christmas Tree Grower of the Year” and was president of the growers association for many years.

An active Granger, Ralph was Master of Brooklyn Grange and of Quinebaug Pomona and a member of the State Grange Agricultural Committee.

He was a nice looking gentleman, quiet and unassuming – but when he sat down to his honky-tonk piano- watch out - everything went crazy!

At one time he had come across an old music book - World War I vintage containing songs that were a little bit nice/ a little bit naughty! He learned the songs and they became his trademark!

The Pomona put on a lot of minstrel shows in those days with Ralph, his brother James and Bob Payne being star performers. Everyone had a favorite. State President, Jody Cameron tells me his was “The Seven Little Old Ladies Stuck in the Lavatory.”

Ralph often took part in the spring/fall concerts of the Mountain County Choristers. He played and sang in his own special style- but the audience wouldn’t let him go until he gave his own rendition of “He Couldn’t Get to It!!”

I’m glad I’ve been able to “get to it” and give you this reminder of the man from Brooklyn who kept people laughing - many of them right off their chairs!

Do remember Ralph Ingalls.

And it's oh, dear, what can the matter be?
Seven old ladies got stuck in the lavatory;
They were there from Sunday till Saturday,
Nobody knew they were there.

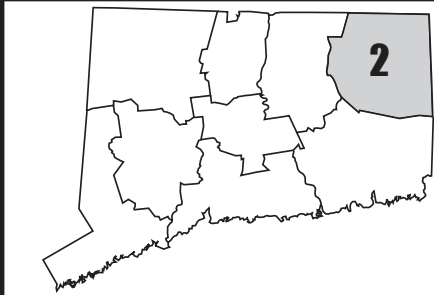

Now the first old lady was Margaret Flynn,
She went inside on a personal whim;
But she somehow got stuck between the bowl and the rim,
And nobody knew she was there.

And it's, oh, dear, what can the matter be?
Seven old ladies got stuck in the lavatory;
They were there from Sunday till Saturday,
Nobody knew they were there.

Now the second old lady was Elizabeth
Humphrey,
She went inside and she made herself comfy;
When she tried to get up, ah, she couldn't get her bum free,
And nobody knew she was there.

And it's, oh, dear, what can the matter be?
Seven old ladies got stuck in the lavatory;
They were there from Sunday till Saturday,
Nobody knew they were there.

I like this kind of weather! Well the holidays are coming fast. Halloween was not very good, but the Carter Farm was open a couple of unsettled nights. Now it's time to settle in for winter. Christmas shopping has begun. The State Session is over and a lot of resolutions were made. Tabs and labels are still coming in. The dictionaries will go to school this week. Our regular meetings are usually attended by all members. Sue Dupre has been on the sick list, as has Mildred Briggs and Genevieve Shippee. Gen is still at Westview Convalescent Home recuperating from a fall.

We held our Square Dance on the second Saturday of the month. Attendance was low. Hope for larger group as time goes on- may have been because of the storms lately.

A craft show and luncheon was held on Nov. 10th with good attendance. There were lots of knitted goods and jewelry and other homemade goodies.

At our sat meeting we voted to purchase more, new light tables. Eleanor Davis, our Lecturer, received four awards, Lecturer's Appreciation, Supporting Our Troops, Should Auld Acquaintance and won third place for an essay- "How I would change our Grange."

Bernadette who has been on the recuperating list volunteered to send postcards to service members as our Community Service which includes bringing non-perishable foods for our Thanksgiving basket.

If I'm reading my notes correctly, we will have movies for Thanksgiving and Christmas during our next meetings or at another meeting night.

Safety tips for the coming winter months. Keep extra gas in your car along with flashlights, batteries, shovels, and a warm blanket A bucket of sand can also be useful. Make sure your windshield wipers work, drive carefully and watch out for the other drivers.

Take time to help others along your path and support our troops, those far away and those at home.

General Assembly ready to convene

The Connecticut General Assembly convenes on January 9th in Hartford. The Connecticut State Grange Legislative Committee will be monitoring bills and presenting testimony when warranted. Gordon Gibson will again be our voice in Hartford. His political connections are a valuable asset to the Connecticut State Grange. He will be talking to Senators and Representatives conveying our opinions on the different bills. By now bill requests to be brought up during the session have been presented to the legislature by Assembly members. These will be assigned to various legislative committees for review and action. Legislative Committees also can present committee bills as the session progresses.

As the bills progress we would hope that Granges would lend their support or objection to the different bills. The State Grange testimonies at committee hearings are one of the tools with which we convey Grange opinions. The State Grange Legislative Policy Guide is another tool we use. This guide will be sent to all of the General Assembly members and Granges. But, having the individual Community and Pomona Granges add their voices to the different bills really can enforce Grange influence. This can be done by the Grange itself pending a communication on behalf of their members or by individual members.

You do not have to feel that you need to go to Hartford to voice your opinion. Writing or contacting your local Senator and Representative can have just as much of an influence. For some bills we also recommend that you contact the committee chairman and/or members of the committee that is hearing the bill. When you contact them, please be sure that you clearly communicate which bill you are referring to and then state your opinion. Incorporate your reasons for your opinions as well.

On the Federal level, we are still waiting on the Farm Bill. (I am assuming that the Federal Legislators did not act on this before the end of December). If this bill was not acted on by the end of December, milk and dairy product subsidies will have to come to an end. This sets a minimum wholesale price for milk. Several conservation programs will be frozen. The extension passed before the end of December, but we still need to have the farm bills finalized so farmers can determine their crops for the next growing season. Remember that the farm bill is the Farm and Food Nutrition Bill. Only about 20 percent is for the farm side. The rest is for food nutritional programs such as the school lunch program and SNAP, which was previously known as Food Stamps.

If you would like to be more involved with the activity in the General Assembly, email me at legislative@CTStateGrange.org and ask to be placed on our legislative action list. We will send out emails to concerned members when issues arise that need immediate action.

Apathy not allowed!

Grace Boatright, National Legislative Director

I'm very happy to announce that the National Grange Legislative Department has unveiled its new youth legislative program: Apathy Not Allowed. The program is designed to help our Grange Youth understand the importance of not only voting, but being involved in the policy development of one's community.

After becoming Director in July, I knew I wanted to start a program for the Legislative Department and the Youth Department to engage in together. Following some research, I discovered that among the world's developed countries; the United States ranks second from the bottom in regards to voter turnout; a position that is entirely unacceptable if we are to grow as a nation and fix the problems we are currently facing. More importantly, I discovered that political apathy is significantly higher among teens and young adults, who see little relation between government action and their daily lives. Thus, Apathy Not Allowed will work to engage our Grange Youth and get them involved as responsible citizens with a firm grasp on their civic duties as members of a free society.

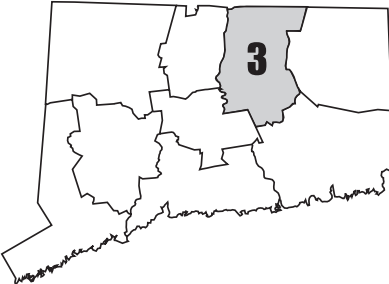

As part of the program, I want to engage in a monthly teleconference with participating youth to discuss current events going on at the local, state and federal levels and how we as a group can get involved. More than anything, I want to teach them that it's worth their time and effort to take an interest in government and politics. I also want to help them coordinate trips to their state capitals and possibly even a trip here to Washington, D.C.

Participants of Apathy Not Allowed will also be encouraged to compete for the Grange Grassroots Activism Award, oriented towards legislative activities and advocacy work. First place winners of the Activism Award will be invited to attend the annual Legislative Fly-In in DC and have all of their expenses paid. Second and third place winners will receive scholarships and free registration to the next National Grange Convention.

To be clear, I absolutely did not begin Apathy Not Allowed to lead young people in one political direction or another. In fact, I have worked very hard to keep the program in line with the Grange's stance as a nonpartisan organization. Rather, I want Apathy Not Allowed to reveal to youth all of the ways in which government impacts their daily lives and explain to them their important role in shaping public policy. Once they can see the influence that government has in their daily lives, from public school curriculum all the way to taxes, they will begin to take an interest on a personal level.

I developed Apathy Not Allowed to ensure that our Grange Youth "take a proper interest in the politics of one's country," just as our Grange's Declaration of Purposes suggests. We need them to become the informed and involved citizens our country requires to move both America and the Grange forward and guarantee a better society for future generations. I'm very excited about the program and am looking forward to working with all of our Grange Youth to make Apathy Not Allowed a success.

Feb. 7: Meeting, 7:30 P.M. “Be My Valentine”
Glastonbury Grange had a nice Christmas Party at Olympic Pizza Restaurant on Dec. 6. On Jan. 3 we will have our regular monthly meeting at 7:30 P.M. The Lecturer’s Program is “Welcome the New Year.”

The Focus Group has been meeting to come up with some new ideas of ways we can raise some extra income. They have come up with around 8 to 10 ideas and are focusing on 3 of them. We will be discussing these ideas at our next meeting and vote on what we will plan to work on.
We are continuing to hold our monthly card parties. Do join us on Jan. 12 for a fun evening with local folks and delicious refreshments. Hope you all had a Merry Christmas and Happy New Year.

MANCHESTER GRANGE #31
Corr: Leona Wilson
Jan. 15: Snow
On December 4, Sister Gail Aylmer is in charge of the program. The members are asked to bring a gift from the dollar store. On December 14 the Manchester members will meet for a holiday luncheon. In January Manchester Grange will hold only one meeting on January 15 as our first meeting would fall on Jan. 1st. The program will be in the charge of Sister Leona Wilson. This program will be about Snow and a New Year’s party. Come and visit us.

TOLLAND GRANGE #51
Corr: J. Jordan
Jan. 15: Presidents 11-15
Tolland Grange will meet on the third Tuesday for the month of January. Our meeting will be held at St. Matthew’s Church on the green in Tolland. Continuing with presidents we will be talking about numbers 11-15. Join us if you can.

VERNON GRANGE #52
Corr: Nancy Strong
Jan. 11: 7:00 P.M.- What’s Your Money I.Q.?
Vernon Grange had a fun holiday party, as always, with the delicious refreshments by the Congers and a silly/useless gift exchange. We always get a laugh out of what shows up. One member was thinking of wrapping her husband! Our January meeting is changed to the second Friday- if the weather cooperates! It will be an informative meeting on money and investments from the AARP magazine.

COVENTRY GRANGE #75
Corr: Noel Miller
Jan. 17: DATE CHANGE - Happy 125th Birthday #75
Yes, we are celebrating our 125th birthday, probably huddled around our kitchen stove roasting marshmallows and keeping warm but I’m in charge and will have something planned. We have draped our Charter for the loss of Brother William A. Miller, a 59 year member who died on Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 22. A strong worker and supporter of Grange from Coventry to State Legislative Director his actions will be long lived in the Grange. God bless true and faithful.

ENFIELD GRANGE #151
Corr: Irene Percoski
Jan. 12: Happy New Year- Don’t forget Food Shelf donations
Feb. 8: Winter Olympics
Happy New Year to one and all. Instead of making resolutions we need to make challenges to ourselves. Challenge to make more meetings and be on time. Challenge to ask someone to join the Grange every month (or every week would be a bigger challenge). Challenge to enter a Grange contest, any contest. Challenge to visit a member who can’t come to Grange anymore. When you make that challenge you are actually daring yourself to do something that might be a little out of your comfort zone. We all need to get out of our comfort zone and shed the old way of doing things. So I not only ask everyone to accept a new challenge... I double-dare you.
The absolute deadline to get your recipes in is Feb. 1.

Photographs are a treasured part of Grange history. Many of them, unfortunately, do not come neatly labeled on the back with names, dates, people or places. These photographs have a story to tell... but about whom or what? Please help us solve the mystery of the faces and places as we look through the Window to the Past. You can contact us by calling (860) 626-5074 or on the web by emailing submissions@ctstategrange.org.

Answers to Previous Photos: RUTH HICKCOX -- As I think more about my photo (Nov. photo), I think it was taken back in Boise, because that’s also a picture of the CWA chairman at the time. I forget her name, but she was really warm and friendly. On December’s photo (from Facebook) - KIM MELE -- Wish I knew--she looks like she would’ve been a neat lady to know! JOANNE PAGE -- I don’t recognize her. SUE ADDISON -- That backdrop is on the stage at Cheshire Grange. Maybe she was in a fashion show for the Sewing Contest?

EKONK JR. GRANGE #101*Rebecca Gervais, Leader*

We joined the Youth and over 30 of us went on a hike to Mt. Misery, and a round-a-bout walk out of the woods for a total of about 3 miles. It was an enjoyable hike and we all appreciated the hot dogs and hamburgers back at the Grange. So nice to come back to a hot meal. A fun hike, a nice meal, and great friends makes for a pretty nice way to spend a few hours.

We have been pretty busy. A group of us "walked" for St. Jude on "Black Friday." A great way to spend the day after Thanksgiving. We raised $441.00. Hooray to Emily for being in charge of this event, she did an awesome job.

About 22 of us ate a quick lunch at the Grange and went to see the "Indian Calendar" stones that are close by. It was very fun and informative. George Molodich met us on his family's land to show us the many rocks and to explain them to us. It is amazing the treasures that are close by!

We have been practicing for our Christmas play, which is on the 14th. We will be performing "The Littlest Reindeer." I will report on our play in next month's column.

We "adopted" a family from Sterling, with the Subordinates, and grabbed a few extra tags off the tree for local kids. We have a generous bunch!

The Christmas Bazaar was held on the 8th. We had a bake sale table and raised $66.25! Ho, ho hope you all had a Merry Christmas and the New Year is a happy and healthy one. Feel free to join in on our fun, ANYTIME!

"Heaven's Grocery Store"

by Ron DeMarco

I was walking down life's highway a long time ago. One day I saw a sign that read, "Heaven's Grocery Store." As I got a little closer the door came open wide and when I came to myself I was standing inside. I saw a host of Angels, they were standing everywhere. One handed me a blanket and said, "My child shop with care." Everything a Christian needs is in that grocery store, and all you can't carry, come back the next day for more. First, I got Patience, Love was in the same row. Further down was Understanding, needed everywhere you go. I got a box or two of Wisdom, a bag or two of Faith. I just couldn't miss the Holy Spirit, it was all over the place. I stopped to get some Strength and Courage to help me run this place, but then my blanket was getting full, and I remembered I needed Grace. I didn't forget Salvation, which like the others was free, so I tried to get enough of that to save both you and me. Then I started to the counter to pay my grocery bill, for I thought I had everything to do my master's will. As I went up the aisle, I saw Prayer and had to put it in, for I knew when I stepped outside, I would run right into sin. Peace and Joy were plentiful; they were on the last shelf. Song and Praises were hanging near, so I just helped myself. Then I said to the Angel, "How much do I owe?" The Angel smiled and said, "Just take them everywhere you go." Again, I politely asked "How much do I really owe?" The Angel smiled again and said, "My Child, Jesus Paid Your Bill A Long Time Ago."

As we all go into 2013, let us do as the Angel said, "Just take them everywhere you go!" Amen.

Thank you from Sue

Thank you so much for the numerous cards sent to me as I recuperate from what was supposed to be a simple out-patient surgery. When the surgeon opened my ankle, according to Russell, if 5 things could be wrong, 5 things were wrong! As a result, I, as of this writing, am still in a wheelchair and to top it off (law, according to Murphy), I am allergic to the pain medicines. I look forward to being in a walking boot before Christmas, but I have been assured that this will indeed be a long, painful convalescence! Oh, joy! Sue Gray

New Members

We do not have a list of new members to print in this issue of the Granger. We do know that 25 new members joined our ranks during the last month. Unfortunately, we do not know who they are unless it is reported to the editor or if we wait until the next quarterly report is submitted to the State Secretary. It is now especially important as we work towards our goal of 680 and try to fill in the chart on page 1.

Give your new members the recognition they deserve and report their name and Grange name and number to the editor of the Granger as soon as possible:

Membership Highlights

Michael J. Martin
National Leadership/Memb. Dev. Director

At the 146th Annual Session of the National Grange in Boise, Idaho, I shared membership highlights with the delegate body. I want to share this information with each of you in this newsletter.

Hearty thanks and kudos for the hard, steady work of our State Masters and Membership Directors. As a result of their efforts, nine states realized net gains in membership this year! Oklahoma topped the list with a net gain of 272 new members and a percentage growth of 15.9 percent. Idaho, Massachusetts, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, Tennessee, Texas and West Virginia also had net gains in membership.

We have 2,048 local Granges as of the second quarter of 2011. Of that total, 461 local Granges realized net gains in membership. Another 489 Granges held steady; that is, they neither gained nor lost members last year. Of our local Granges, 46 percent are holding steady or are growing.

We have 75,320 Fraternal Members, 86,135 Supportive Members, 2,193 Associate Members and 45 E-members for a total membership of 163,693 as of the second quarter of 2012.

At the local level, kudos to Feather River No. 440 in California with the highest net gain in the nation of 85 new members. Their Grange grew from 48 to 133 members in the past year. Springfield Grange No. 523 in California had the highest percentage gain at 222 percent. They grew from 37 to 119 members. Chester Royal Grange No. 2181 in Iowa had a 218 percent percentage gain. They grew from 11 to 35 members. Nationally, 461 Granges had net gains in membership totaling 2,979 new new members, and we know many more members joined our 2,048 Community Granges.

Join the 13 Second Campaign

Michael J. Martin
National Leadership/Memb. Dev. Director

In the Grange, 13 is a special number. Each Grange must have at least 13 members, and every Grange has 13 officers (plus Executive Committee).

As we look forward to 2013, a year in which growing our membership must be a priority of every Grange and every Grange member, we are commencing on a social media marketing and membership campaign. This grass roots campaign will draw attention to the positive personal impact the Grange has made on our members' lives.

I ask that members across the country (that means you personally) take time—about 13 seconds—on the 13th of each month, starting in December 2012 to post to their social networks a kind of social media elevator post. These posts should tell a brief anecdote about the Grange's importance in indoor community and in your life, and they should encourage your social media friends to ask you more about our Order. Over the next 13 months, if, together, we bring in 100 net new members each month, we will achieve a net gain in membership for the Grange as a whole.

I challenge you to do your part by actively participating in this campaign. Actively tell people about your positive Grange experience and ask 13 people to join the Grange between now and December 13, 2013.

When you see success with this program, please email me at: mmartin@nationalgrange.org with your name and Grange name and number. Include the post that prompted the new member to join and the new member's name and Grange. We will recognize everyone who reports success as part of this campaign during the 2013 Annual National Grange Convention in New Hampshire.

Together, in these next 13 months, we will grow the Grange.

By Amanda Leigh Brozana, abrozana@nationalgrange.org
National Grange Communications Director

Due to budgetary constraints, the National Grange has announced that it will not produce a printed edition of the New Grange in 2013.

The decision was made by the National Grange Board of Directors and approved by the delegate body as part of the passage of the 2013 National Grange Budget during the 146th Annual Convention in Boise, Idaho, held Nov. 11-17 for delegates.

National Grange Communications Director Amanda Leigh Brozana said the department is committed to providing information to all members through a regularly scheduled e-newsletter service, but said dissemination of that information will require the assistance of each member in this effort.

“If you know members who do not have email or the internet, please volunteer or find someone in your Grange who will print and distribute the e-newsletter editions to members,” Brozana said. “Every member who has an email address should be encouraged to sign up for our mailing list. Members can choose what products they want to receive, such as Grange news, benefits information and fraternal concerns.”

Newsletters include many pieces of helpful information, including new programs, benefits, sales and legislative briefings. “Members who are unable to receive this information miss out on much of what their dues were meant to cover,” Brozana said.

Brozana said the National Grange will adhere to the following publication schedule for 2013, producing e-newsletter editions during the following weeks: Jan. 7 & 22, Feb. 4 & 25; Mar. 11 & 25; Apr. 8 & 22; May 6 & 20; June 3 & 17; July 1 & 22; Aug. 12 & 26; Sept. 9 & 23; Oct. 7 & 21. November will include a convention round-up featuring daily newsletters from the 147th Annual Convention.

Brozana asked that all members receiving communications currently from the National Grange spread the word about e-newsletters and encourage their Grange Brothers and Sisters to subscribe in order to get on the mailing list.

Brozana also encouraged members to submit articles or story tips for the e-newsletter online at www.nationalgrange.com/news/submitsubscribe or by sending the information directly to abrozana@nationalgrange.org.

National Grange seeks interns

The National Grange is seeking interns at its headquarters in Washington, D.C., located just one block from the White House.

Communications Director Amanda Leigh Brozana said the National Grange is in the process of several large-scale projects and seeks an organized, reliable, confident individual to become a part of the team for the spring, summer or fall.

“While there will be days of endless scanning, data entry and general organizational work, the intern will also help to produce material for our legislative, communications, events, trademark/brand management, membership and sales departments,” Brozana said. “The intern will get to interact with some of the best people in the country – our members – and learn more about the legislative and lobbying process, public relations, programs planning, fundraising, graphic communications, event planning and marketing.”

Internships are open to all student levels and all majors, interns must be at least 18 years old, eligible to work in the U.S. and willing to submit to a background check, as is the policy of our organization, Brozana said.

This is an unpaid internship, though MetroBenefits – compensation for commuting to and from work – may be available. Additional scholarship opportunities may also be available for interns. Interns with a research interest may also submit ideas for projects that could garner support.

Those interested should reply by email at abrozana@nationalgrange.org with a resume and contact information as well as your prospective start and end date. More information will be provided during a follow-up interview.

Southern CT Past Masters

The Past Masters honored Mildred Bell for 80 years of continuous Grange membership.

The January meeting of the Past Masters will be held at Redding Grange on Saturday, January 12. The program is entitled “Snow Flakes.” Let’s hope that is not the case. As the weatherman is not always cooperative, if you have a doubt about the meeting call the President Robert Sendewicz.
